Deborah has been with Sky Harbor since 1996 and was appointed Assistant Aviation Director in 2015. In this role she oversees the Air Service Development, Government Relations, Community Outreach, Planning, Environmental and Public Relations departments.

Deborah serves on a variety of community and industry boards and is currently the incoming Chair of the Arizona Lodging and Tourism Association, Chair of the Tempe Tourism Office and Emeritus board member of New Pathways for Youth. She is also an active volunteer for the Phoenix Homeless Children Mentor Program.

In 2012, she won the highly-coveted Athena Award for excellence in business, mentoring and community outreach and in 2013 received the National Child Labor Committee’s Lewis Hine award for work with children.

Prior to joining the airport, Deborah spent a decade working in Europe and the Middle East, holding positions that included Marketing Director for MicroAge Computers Central Europe and Marketing Manager for Prince Charles in London.

She earned her Bachelor of Science degree at the University of Maryland and her MBA in International Business from the American University in Washington, D.C.
